1-3 September 2008
Brorfelde Observatory, Denmark

On 1-3 September 2008, DANCORE (the Danish Network for Coastal Research) will host an international seminar on Marine Invasive Species at the Brorfelde Observatory which is situated in the central part of Zealand, Denmark.

The seminar, which is aimed at young researchers and professionals, will focus on Danish and other European researchers' experience with invasive species both within flora and fauna. Cases, both within and outside Europe, will be presented focussing on the dissemination of knowledge and networking of young researchers and professionals.

A tentative programme will be ready by the end of June.

If you are among the youngsters, then register for the YPEP seminar at Brorfelde. If you are not, then think of some of your younger colleagues, who might benefit from participating in ENCORA's exchange programme.

The seminar is subsidized by DANCORE and the fee is consequently DKK 500 (EUR 70 + transfer fee). This covers lectures, food and accommodation. Please note that membership of your national coastal network is a prerequisite for participation. The maximum number of participants is 30 and the deadline for pre-registration is 30 June 2008. Pre-registrations should be sent to office@dancore.dk. If you wish to apply for a YPEP grant, please contact your national coordination office.

In case you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact us.

We look forward to seeing you at Brorfelde.
